DISPUTE OVER INTERCHANGE

A dispute concerning the placement of an interchange for the new 175 expressway in Beaver Creek Township, Crawford County is continuing.

A concerted effort by many individuals and groups in both Crawford and Roscommon counties appears to have come to naught when the appeal reached the desk of John E. Meyer, director of engineering, Michigan State Highway Department.

The controversy concerns whether the interchange will be made at the intersection of Four Mile Road and the new proposed expressway or nearer to the complex of the Big Wheel Restaurant, Big Wheel Service, Pineaire Motel, Skyline Ski resort and the big new installation of the General Telephone Company at the Junction of US-27.

People of this area see an interchange at the Four Mile Road as serving no one or no purpose while the service area already established in the Big Wheel area would be a boon to and serve the traveling public.

Amongst the local people backing the change in the relocation of the proposed interchange are: William L. "Roy" Dewitt of Roscommon, Ralph Morse, owner and operator of Skyline, Stanley Berry, owner and operator of the Pineaire Motel. In addition to these three men, the Boards of Supervisors of both Roscommon and Crawford counties have asked for the change as well as the Grayling and Gorrish-Higgins Planning Commissions and the Grayling Area and Roscommon County Chambers of Commerce as well.

Presidents of the Grayling State Bank and the Roscommon State Bank have expressed their feelings that the change should be made for better service to the traveling public and to act as an impetus to the very much needed economic growth of the area.

A petition signed by 10 area businessmen, Chamber of Commerce executives and local government officials, has been presented to the Highway Department. The petition was explained by chairman Jon DeWitt. It requests

Frederic Eagles Lose To Joburg

By Rex Alma
On Friday, Jan. 21st, the Eagles took a trip to Johannesburg where they lost 77 to 39. When the Johannesburg Cardinals heard about Jim Weaver and his new record they decided to keep two of three players on him to keep him from scoring. They were successful with the defensive effort because Weaver's score was relatively low when compared to his 90 point average. Jim Weaver was still high scorer, although with 14 points. Jim Gaudin followed with 10 points.

The javees were also unsuccessful in their competition against the Johannesburg javees. Garrett Bailey led the scoring with 3 points. Terry Valdik made a much needed 1 point from a charity shot which brought the final score up to 34 to 4.

The Eagles will travel to Weidman on Friday the 28th where they will attempt to get into the win column. On Monday the 31st the girls team will play Johannesburg and the Junior High will play Alba. This game will be played at Frederic.

Pictured above is Jim Weaver, co-captain of the Frederic High Eagles basketball team who switched in 54 points against the Alba Wildcats on January 14th. Weaver, only a junior, averaged 22 points per game last year as a sophomore. This year, he is hitting for over 30 points per game. In his record scoring performance against Alba, Weaver scorched the meshes with 24 two point field goals out of 27 attempts for a 90 completion percentage. He added 6 more points from the free throw lane.

that the interchange be relocated and is based on an economical viewpoint, considered vital in the surrounding area. "Such an interchange would insure maximum service to major travel desired and provide total integration of the two highways," the petition read.

In the economical analysis it was pointed out that tourism is the economic base in the area.

"In the present age of synthetics and automation, rural area cannot compete for manufacturing industries. Because our area is blessed with abundant natural resources it has turned heavily to the tourist for survival."

"Winter tourist business must be carefully cultivated and developed. Skyline is the only winter resort serving the Village of Roscommon, the Higgins Lake area and northern Roscommon County. It is one of three major winter resorts serving the City of Grayling."

"In order for this winter recreational area to survive and contribute to the economical support of all these areas, proper highway access must be maintained. The existing plan for an interchange at Four Mile Road does not provide such proper access."

Four Mile Road interchange does not provide any services to

A 1958 Ford at the Tony Dore-mire home on Railroad Reserve caught fire apparently from gasoline overflow Tuesday of last week at about 1:15 p. m. Mrs. Doremire called the Grayling Fire Department, but fortunately the blaze had burned itself out by the time equipment arrived on the scene. The car was parked in the garage, which is attached to the home. Damage was very small, it was reported.

Stanley Joe Robertson Wins Alma Degree

Stanley Joe Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robertson of 501 Ottawa, received his AB degree from Alma College on December 14, 1965, majoring in Philosophy and Religion. Joe graduated from Grayling High School with the class of 1961.

He has enrolled at Duke Divinity School in Durham, N.C.

the traveler and is reported to contain only 60 acres of privately owned land for two miles either way. Some sources refer to it as an "error" in highway planning, although it provides a direct service route to the National Guard Camp at Grayling, performing a peculiar, but valuable function.

The Skyline road provides access to a major ski area and to General Telephone's new million-dollar plus Autovon switching center.

Spokesmen favoring the relocation have been in touch with United States Congressman Elford A. Cederberg and State Senator Guy Vander Jagt. It was said, asking the aid of these two men and their offices in Washington and Lansing.

Expect Large Sports Groups

One of the biggest winter weekends will take place at the park when students from Cooley High in Detroit will arrive Friday night for their "annual weekend" of winter sports. They will be housed in motels, served dinner Saturday night by the Michelson Memorial W. S. C. S., Sunday breakfast by the O. E. S. Ladies and Sunday evening supper by the Legion Auxiliary. The Lansing Boy Scouts will also be here Saturday and Sunday. They will be using the Elementary School building Saturday night. The Lansing Everett Hi Y Club will also spend Saturday and Sunday at the park, and be housed in the High School building. St. Mary's Church will provide Saturday dinner and Sunday breakfast for these two organizations. Full use of the ski slopes, toboggans, skating rink and warming lodge will be made by the over 400 persons in the various schools and clubs, as well as by local snow enthusiasts.

Last weekend proved to be an excellent one at the Grayling Winter Sports Park. Groups from Bay City, Ellsworth, Shepherd and Midland were among those using the facilities. Tuesday 180 from the Adelphi Academy at Holly were at the park. This Thursday there will be 120 from St. Michael's High School of Flint, and on Friday 25 from St. Ann's Church of Walled Lake are scheduled to enjoy the outdoors.

Five Compete In Central Division U.S.S.A. Races

The U.S.S.A. Central Division races held Sunday at Boyne Highlands saw five young people from Crawford County taking part. Out of 71 racers competing in the Class B Slalom races for boys, Grayling had three entries, David Cinciala, Fenn Welch and Bill Gould. Bill came in 7th and 8th. Dave came in 18th on one but suffered a bad fall and did not finish the other race. Fenn came in 21st and 24th in the two races.

Out of this many racers from all over Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio, the boys are to be complimented in being in the top one third placement.

Jeanne Wyman raced in the Class B girls competition and her scores were very good but the ratings were not released. There were eighteen girls competing.

Jody Wyman raced in the girls Class A competition. This group consisted of twenty entries. Jody placed for 10th place in the down hill races and took 18th in the Slalom. This was an off day for Jody who usually does much better. It must be remembered that the times are just split seconds apart.

Parents attending the races from Grayling were Mrs. Joseph Cinciala, Mrs. Kenneth Wyman and Mrs. Bud Gould.

The Hornets, winners over the tough Gaylord Blue Devils on their home floor last Tuesday, will be definite favorites in Friday night's clash. ## PLAN BODY NEARS GOAL

It was back in the summer of 1963 that the first steps were taken to form a joint City of Grayling-Township of Grayling Planning Commission. The first meeting of the group was held on July 29, 1963 and the long, hard march towards order for the region was begun.

At the monthly meeting of the Grayling Regional Planning Commission held at the Grayling City Hall on Monday evening, January 17th, it was apparent that the long 31 months of work was nearing fruition.

The Commission has gone about as far as it legally can now and must wait action by both the Grayling City Council and the Grayling

Explain County Schools Status

The State Committee on School District Reorganization has processed many resolutions, giving their blessing to the annexation or consolidation of school districts within county lines as well as the combining of county school districts into larger intermediate districts made up of two or more counties.

On December 16th a resolution requesting the merger of the Frederic and Grayling School Districts was submitted to this state board. This was done following many meetings of the K-12 study committee, which was made up of local citizens from both school districts. It was their consensus that such a merger would be a step forward in providing a better education for all the students in the area.

If the proposal is approved the resolution then comes up for a vote of the people.

Rumors have been heard to the effect that the Frederic district was annexed to Grayling's. Frederic students must come to the Grayling school in April, etc. These are not true. There can be no change in the present Frederic or Grayling school districts until the residents of both school districts vote for one, and this has not been done nor has the approval for such an election been given to date. It is expected that approval will be given for an election shortly and further information will be forthcoming at that time.

Two Men File For Community College Board

He attended the Bay City Junior College after graduating from Arthur Hill high school in Saginaw, transferred to the University of Michigan, and graduated with a BBA degree. Since moving to Rose City, Mr. Eichler has become very active in community affairs. He will run for a six year term.

WHAT IS PLANNING?

The concept of a planned community environment is not new. For many centuries man has sought to meet the problems created by the congregating of groups of people through some kind of plan.

Nearly every city in this country had its beginning with the filing of a plat showing a proposed layout of streets and alleys, city boundaries, public squares and other physical conditions. Some of the early founders had rather optimistic ideas about the future of the centers of population they were creating, as evidenced by the land areas included in the original plat.

Sometimes, the dreams failed to materialize and even now many communities have subdivisions with plats showing 25 foot lots, left over from early building booms. Other communities did prosper, outgrowing the original platted area, but there was a significant lapse in the planning process from the filing of the original plat to the present time.

Of course, there is a basis for

What Is A Community College?

The question is asked many times, "What is a Community College?" Briefly, a Community College is an institution that puts into its curriculum whatever the local community wants in its curriculum.

If the local community wants the first two years of college courses offered, it may do so. If the community finds a need to train secretaries, nurses, bookkeepers, mechanics, repairmen, plumbers, carpenters, farmers, housewives, etc., the Community College will offer these courses in the curriculum.

If the local community wants courses offered for personal enjoyment, such as welding, sewing, jewelry making, art, ceramics, current events, tailoring, etc., these can be offered. In fact, the Community College can even offer special courses for high school students before they graduate from high school.

Courses taken at a Community College can be transferred to any university or four-year college without loss of credit.

Community Colleges are the gauges of communities because they show what the community wants. Community Colleges can operate in this manner because they are locally controlled through an elected Board of Trustees. They are financed through three sources: TUITION, STATE AID and LOCAL PROPERTY TAX.

WARNING

The National Guard Tank Range number 30, which is located north of the North Down River Road will be in use on January 27th and 28th. The range will therefore be closed planning in response to conditions other than population growth. Citizens of communities that remain relatively stable in size or actual decline in population still must address themselves to the question of preserving those things that contribute to a satisfying living environment; adjusting to changing conditions that occur as a result of internal or external influences; or changing those things that call for change. The problem of furnishing services in a community with a declining economic base and population can be just as acute as those that are apparent in a growing metropolis.

While community survival is possible if services and facilities are acquired on a hit-or-miss basis, experience has shown that long range planning helps to assure more certain and more orderly development at less cost to public and private interests.

It becomes difficult to provide necessary services to areas in this situation and over a period of time haphazard development contributes to an increase in fire losses, tax levels, crime rates with the associated social costs, and eventually to deterioration of the living environment.

Sound planning, then, must be concerned with the use of land, improvement of civic appearance, and with the provision of services in such a way that residents of the community can conveniently carry on their work and leisure time activities with the feeling that the community has a sense of direction.

Planning should exert a positive influence. Rather than just promulgating regulations and restrictions to keep undesirable things from happening, the plan should be a positive instrument for converting citizens' goals and aspirations to reality. Rather than thinking of land use planning as merely a means of prohibiting junk yards and slaughter houses on the main street, it should be considered a means of channeling residential, commercial and industrial development into desirable and attractive patterns.

In the process many benefits accrue, some of which are: efficiency and economy in government, protection of the public health and welfare, economic development, and protection of property values.

(NEXT WEEK—THE PLAN)

The other members of the commission are Burton McWilliams, Clairbell Goss and Derek McEvers. Mr. McEvers was recently appointed to serve out Mrs. Gould's term as a commissioner after she became executive director.

IN GRATITUDE

It is with deep and tender sincerity that I attempt to express my appreciation to the many, many friends in Grayling and its environs for their recent expressions of sympathy.

My family joins with me in this attempt. Personal acknowledgment to each seems almost too much at this time.

The Avalanche must reach all parts of the world, for messages continue to come from friends made in Grayling, our permanent part-time residence for years past. Although it will never be the same without Fran, it is intended to be the family gathering place for years ahead.

Most gratefully,

Worse Than War!

What is a far worse killer and maimer than war? Answer: The slaughter on the nation's highways. In the 1900-1964 period, according to U. S. News & World Report, 576,268 Americans were killed in wars and 978,640 were wounded. In the same period, by way of contrast, traffic accidents claimed a toll of 1,501,000 dead and 52,850,000 injured.

The toll, moreover, keeps rising steadily. In 1965 alone, U. S. News said, the traffic death total will probably be about 51,000 and the total of injured 1.8 million. To this must be added a property damage bill of some $3 billion—which is more than twice that exacted by fires in an average year.

The magazine article went into detail concerning the murderous records we are running up on our streets and highways, the causes of the carnage, and what can be done to help remedy matters. There is ample evidence that the demand for corrective action is growing fast. President Johnson has said that, "We cannot accept the intolerable drain on our human and economic resources that these accidents are causing." Senator Ribicoff, who headed a Senate subcommittee which held hearings on the problem, said: "It's time we mobilized our defense against this threat to our strength, well-being and national safety." And, reported U. S. News, "All across the country there are sounds of alarm. All manner of groups are demanding that the states take action."

What can we expect to happen? The magazine listed a number of probabilities. Insurance rates are due to rise. The courts will get tougher, and more and more drivers found guilty of serious infractions will lose their licenses and find it hard to get them back. More safety features will be built into cars. Tests given applicants for licenses will become stiffer in some instances. And states and communities will spend more money in efforts to correct hazards and make the roads and streets safer.

Even so, the article went on, the experts don't think these measures will do very much to cut down the toll. The reason is that "improper driving" is considered to be the cause of 90 per cent of all accidents, with drinking a factor in 8 per cent more. Thus, it is the motorist—rather than the car or the road—who is the guilty party in 98 per cent of the mishaps. So, U. S. News said, "From this evidence, many authorities conclude that the best hope for a better safety record lies in more driver education, stricter enforcement of traffic rules, and efforts to get the bad drivers off the roads and keep them off."

Some of the states have been strengthening their requirements and others may be expected to follow. Some authorities think that a major need is a large, and expensive, increase in state and local police forces. Others are dubious of this, on the grounds that angry motorists would rebel against rigorous law enforcement.

So the problem remains—and there certainly is no solution in sight. The U. S. News article ended on this discouraged note: "... up to now no effective plan of action seems to be winning general acceptance. A further increase in deaths and injuries seems likely."

January 28, 1943

The Grayling High School senior class of 1943 are completing arrangements this week for the traditional Senior Prom to be presented in the high school gym Saturday evening, February 13. Highlighting the social activities of the students who will don their caps and gowns in June, this semi-formal party will also give recognition to the Grayling Board of Education, with its members, T. P. Peterson, R. O. Milnes, James McDonnell, Dr. Clippert, Emil Giegling and their wives as honored guests. Senior class president Robert LaChapelle, and class secretary Alma Bidva are co-chairmen for the Prom. Heading the music committee will be Thelma Kin. Other committee heads will be decorations, Robert Clark; refreshments, Robert Earl Nelson; advertising, Florence Collins; tickets, Alfred Hanson; programs, Donna Mae Millikin; and entertainment, Monica Brady. Beginning Monday, tickets may be secured from any member of the senior class or at the school office.

The Flint Journal in a recent issue says "Mrs. Elvira Creque left season's records shattered all over Flint Recreation with a 243 actual game and a 635 total. A split in the sixth frame spoiled a run of five strikes in a row in her big count, but she got three straight after the bad break." Mrs. Creque was formerly Miss Elvira Rasmussen, a Grayling born girl and a sister to our fellow townsman Samuel Rasmussen.

Despite record-breaking snowfall, all federal trunklines in war production areas were kept open for traffic by state highway department maintenance crews during mid-January's snow storm, the worst in years. To accomplish this, maintenance crews worked for a 96-hour stretch, with intermittent rest beginning Friday night, January 15. Snowfall in the lower peninsula averaged 15 inches from January 14 to January 21. On the ground level, snow totaled 18 inches to 20 inches deep in the lower peninsula and 20 to 30 inches deep in the upper peninsula on January 21, although drifts were much higher. Sub-zero temperatures and near-gale winds added to the hazards and difficulty of maintaining open highways throughout the state. Department maintenance crews were forced to curtail secondary road plowing to keep main trunklines open.

It was predicted last week that local fans would see a fighting, well organized Grayling basketball team against Roscommon and it turned out to be true when the local varsity downed the Gerrish-Higgins quintet in a hard fought battle, 25-11. Friday, January 29th, fans will have an opportunity to see another thriller when Grayling will appear on the local court in a return game. Grayling, smarting from a 15-13 earlier defeat will be out to even the count.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

At the beginning of basketball season a great many fans thought things would be different this year. It takes 10 boys to scrimmage at every practice and each and every one is as good as the other but when it comes to a game 6 to 7 boys get in, sometimes 8, but very rarely more. Each boy sitting on the bench wants to play as much as the 5 on the floor and if given a chance could do equally as well. It must be very discouraging to a fellow player to watch when mistakes are repeated time after time knowing if he were given a chance he couldn't do any worse.

These boys are Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors in high school and are not expected to be perfect or to play like the pros, but, all like a chance to prove what they can do.

With today's fast game of ball you need fresh men in a game at all times. I have seen boys so tired they looked as though they would drop on the floor any moment—with fresh players setting on the bench that never get to prove what they can do because no one knows they are there.

It makes a person wonder, sometimes, whether the coach knows these boys also have feelings, all you have to do is look into these boys eyes to see the hurt, mixed feelings they have. After each game they work harder in practice and for WHAT?

Some players get a chance with anywhere from 39 to 58 seconds left in the game — to me this is an insult to their integrity. A player "cannot" show what he is capable of doing in this short time.

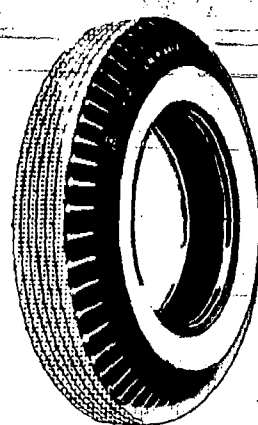

I have seen this happen for the past few years and it doesn't look as if it will change.

What about it Viking fans? Any pros or cons?

An interested Viking fan

Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce

Memo: To the People of Crawford County.

From: Sal Truettner, President

Subject: The Duties of the Chamber

The Regional Chamber of Commerce advertises in the E.M.T.A. East Michigan Tourist Ass'n's

Pal Time Guide. Approximately 30 counties go all out in this book to sell to the tourist what they have to offer. This magazine promotes and publicizes Eastern Michigan. It is sent free to any one for the asking. It is also given out at all Travel and Ski shows.

The Chamber has taken a page in this and they furnish all the information and photographs to be printed in the Guide.

The day is long gone you know when a community sells itself. Every community around (if they are on the ball) is out selling what they have to offer. If a community is going to survive and flourish with the keen competition going on all around it, it has to have an assist from organizations and plugs from its people to promote its growth and stay alive.

By advertising in the PLAY TIME GUIDE, the Chamber knows this is one way to reach a lot of people and let them know of the variety of things this community has to offer.

Daughter of late Crawford County Pioneer Family Passes Away

Services for Mrs. Effie Jane Wright, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Sherman of Maple Forest, Crawford County were held Saturday, January 16 at 2 p. m. in the First Baptist Church, Fowlerville, Michigan with Reverend Stanley L. Jenkins officiating. Interment was in the Greenwood Cemetery, Fowlerville.

Mrs. Wright retired from teaching in August 1955 after 40 years of service in the schools of Michigan. One of her last assignments was in the capacity of helping teacher in Livingston County. She was a student of elementary education. # If you have gas heat, let 'the Joneses' keep up with you.

You're entitled to feel snug as well as comfortable if you heat with gas. That's why, where gas is available, practically everyone gets it. In the areas we serve, some 700,000 families heat with gas. And thousands more are being added.

Gas forced air heat is filtered heat, free of dust and pollen. It's circulated uniformly through your home. You're free of that stuffy "vacuum bottle" feeling. Smoke and odors slip away. And gas is healthfully humid, not bone-dry.

Gas is easy on your budget. It costs only about a fourth as much as you'd pay for electric heat. And you have even comfort throughout your home—even in the basement.

Gas is reliable. It comes to you in underground pipes. You can't run out of it. Maintenance? You can practically forget it. The silent blue flame of a gas burner just can't wear out.

Pity about "the Joneses." Isn't it? But they can have gas heat, too. It only takes about four hours to convert most heating systems. If you convert to gas heat now, we'll pay for the installation and you make no regular payments. Till June, 1966.

Virtually every new home built has gas heat and about the only thing that beats it is a gas heating/air-conditioning system. It means year-round comfort. Year-round economy, too. Because there's a special low rate for heating/cooling customers.

Get with it, "Joneses." Heat and cool with one fuel . . . gas.

For more information contact your heating/cooling contractor, visit the Gas Company office at 206 James, Grayling, or call 348-6581.

A treasurer's report and list of bills was read by Billie Forbes. Motion by Ed Rutkowski, seconded by Sandy Thompson that this report be accepted and the bills ordered paid. All Ayes.

The proof sheet for the Chamber of Commerce 1966 East Michigan Tourist Association Playtime Guide was presented to the Board for approval.

Don Welsler reported on the Roscommon Chamber of Commerce Annual Dinner. Meeting that he and Bill Kraus attended Monday night, January 10th. James Hall, secretary - manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association gave an interesting address. Some two hundred persons were in attendance.
A letter from Joe Michaels,

January 10, 1966 we were presented a letter addressed to Mr. John Dewitt dated December 21, 1965 and signed by Mr. John Meyer stating that this in question is proposed as a direct benefit to "The individual property owner" with emphasis on the Big Wheel restaurant.

We wish to take this opportunity to again express the reasoning behind our Resolution and to take exception to our apparent support of a private venture. We contend that this program is in the interest of the entire community and a very necessary part of the economic development of the County. In the last year we were forced to raise the taxes on real and personal property throughout the County to meet the demands of the rising cost of local Government. In most cases the taxes were at least doubled and in many instances tripled or more. Without the opportunity for future economic growth the taxes per individual will have to increase to the point that a real hardship will exist. We feel that this interchange would help to develop an area otherwise for the proper land utilization of our taxable property which countywide amounts to about 80-85% of all properties. We also feel that the individuals that have initiated and pursued the approval of this interchange should be criticized and penalized for taking the initiative in this matter rather than they should be congratulated as rendering a needed service to the community and public in general.

In closing we request that you consider the feasibility of this interchange on mainly the merits of Crawford County's need for the economic growth it would afford us and the findings of interested organizations rather than on the benefits afforded "The individual property owners". Further that copy of this be sent to the State Highway Commission.

Township Ballots To Have Party Names

The search is on for candidates for the township primary election August 2, 1966, according to Crawford County Democratic Chairman Lora Gould.

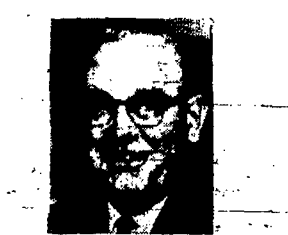

For the first time in Michigan history, all ballots in the State election will automatically include designations for Democratic and Republican candidates.
Only about one-third of Michigan's Townships have previously had Democratic candidates in the ballot. This year all of the State's approximately 1,200 townships, including Crawford County's five townships, will have spaces for Democratic township candidates on the ballot.

In the past, "many rural Michigan townships have had candidates running on People's, Taxpayers and other locally-named party tickets."

This new state law, which automatically places the Republican and Democratic party on the township ballots, will strengthen the two party system and, should result in more responsible grass roots government.

"Township candidates will be on the ballot with those for governor, the state legislature, Congress, and the U. S. Senate."
Voters will be able to cast a straight party ticket for all Democratic or Republican candidates from the township level to the U. S. Senate.
Townships have at least nine elected officials: a supervisor, clerk, treasurer, two to four trustees, two justices of the peace, and two members of the board of review.
Under the new law all candidates must file nominating petitions no later than June 14. These petitions are, or soon will be, available from the County Clerk.

One Of Nation's Outstanding Foresters Is Grayling Native

Arthur C. McIntyre, one of America's outstanding foresters is a native of Grayling. His parents at one time owned a section of land at Lake Margrethe along the northwest shore now known as McIntyre's Landing. He at present makes his home in Newton Square, Pennsylvania but manages one trip back home to Grayling each summer calling on his old friends here.

The following biological sketch of Mr. McIntyre was compiled for the Society of American Foresters, Allegheny Section.

Arthur C. McIntyre ("Mac", Mr. HOWDY, Mr. Chips) was born in Grayling, Michigan, November 14, 1894.

Parents were "homesteaders" in Crawford County, Michigan, in 1888. Father farmed and was a "lumber grader and scaler" in one of the several sawmills in Grayling, a sawmill town then surrounded by a virgin white pine forest. When four years old his father died. His mother was Librarian of Grayling's Public Library.

Graduated from Grayling High School in 1914; Michigan State College with a B. S. in Forestry in 1924; Pennsylvania State College with an M. S. in forest soils in 1929.

"Grew-up" playing and working around the sawmills; worked in a logging camp as a "log scaler". Served in World War I, 1917-1920, was the first draftee from Crawford County, discharged as a 2nd Lt.

On graduation from Michigan State in 1924 was employed by the U. S. Forest Service, Region 3, as a Junior Forester and worked on "timber sales". Here he conducted and reported on a study titled, "Brush Disposal in the Western Yellow Pine Type of the Southwest". In 1927 employed by the Department of Forestry at Penn State to initiate and conduct of a forestry research program. Reported on studies in numerous bulletins, circulars, and articles. In 1935 he accepted a leave of absence from Penn State to participate in formulating and initiating the U.S.D.A. Soil Erosion Service's program in Pennsylvania. In this employment and later as a Regional Woodland Conservationist - 13 Northeastern States - with the Soil Conservation Service he was responsible for developing and integrating land-use practices for woodland with those for grassland and cropland. Tools and techniques were conceived designed to educate landowners and simplify the job of managing farm woodland. He espoused the use of wood fragments for mulching, animal bedding and litter, and as a soil conditioner. He spoke and wrote extensively on this use of wood becoming known as "Mr. Wood Chips".

In 1958 he retired from the position of Regional Woodland Conservationist - Soil Conservation Service and accepted a job assignment with The Pennsylvania Forestry Association to activate its educational program. The Association's Good Outdoor Manners Educational Project, designed to inform and educate people to "HAVE GOOD OUTDOOR MANNERS" was conceived and programmed by him. A cartoon character named HOWDY was created to monitor the educational slogan. The project had immediate public acceptance and a record was established for participation in a contest when over 53,000 boys and girls in schools of Pennsylvania (1 in every 5 enrolled) sent in contest entries. McIntyre became known as "Mr. Howdy". In 1948 he became editor of the Association's magazine, PENNSYLVANIA FORESTS and continues to so serve. Since 1934 he has served the Association as a Director or as Vice-President.

He is a member of the American Forestry Association; a founding member of the Soil Conservation Society of America; a member of the Society of American Foresters and served as a Council member; Chairman of the Allegheny Section S.A.F. in 1936.

He has received many honors. At Michigan State he was elected to Xi Sigma Pi, National Honorary Forestry (while at Penn State he served as National Secretary); Botanical Seminar, Honorary Botany; Pi Delta Epsilon, National Honorary Journalism; Ex Calibur, Honorary Campus; and at Penn State, Sigma Psi, Nat. Graduate Hon., Science. In 1952 he was elected a Fellow in the Soil Conservation Society of America. In 1954 he received The Pennsylvania Forestry Association's Annual Conservation Award "for distinguished service". In 1957 he received a citation from the School of Forestry, Pennsylvania State University, "in recognition of outstanding service to the forestry profession". In 1962 he received the Annual Conservation Award from the William Penn Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America for his promoting the "Have Good Outdoor Manners Program". In 1963 he received The Pennsylvania Forestry Association's Howdy Award. In 1964 he was cited as one of "Pennsylvania Forestry's Most Influential Men". In 1965 he received the S.A.F. - Allegheny Section's First Annual Award for "outstanding service to forestry".

He was well known for an oft repeated statement at group meetings, "What does it take to get the job done?" He was an ardent hunter and fisherman. He owned and operated a Christmas Tree Farm.

He claims that "all his life he has been lucky". Lucky to have chosen forestry as a profession - he was urged to become an M. D. because of an innate liking of the outdoors and the "association with no finer group of men to be found anywhere". Any attainments were made possible only because "others willingly participated and did most of the work" and that "to the unsung" should go most credit.
